FROM TEXAS TO THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

A Tenderfoot's Trip Up the Trail.

It was a grand sight to see thirty-five hundred cattle tossing their horns in the morning wind as they fled down the valley of the Big Bend and 15th of June, 1889. The shouting of forty "cow boys" the roar of tramping horns, the clouds of dust, and the sea of moving heads and tails made a picture long to be remembered. As the last of the herd fled past the entrance on which I entered the trail, the road and galloped down the valley. Upon reaching the herd I asked for and obtained employment from Ed. Cobb, part owner of the three-day cattle</

FOREIGN OPPOSITION.

An exchange says: All Europe is trying to handicap Congressman McCreary's measure for commercial conference between all countries on the Western continent south of us.

The only thing that stands in the way of a permanent commercial union is the prohibitory tariff of this country. Remove this and all Europe would be powerless to prevent it.

DUAL DEATHS.

T. Corwin Anderson, the widely known short-horn breeder, died at his home in Montgomery county, on last Wednesday.

In less than three hours after Mr. Anderson's death, his son Jay, aged 17 years, also died. The former had been in ill health for several years, but the latter was sick only a few days, having inflammation of the stomach.

The two corpses lay together in the same house at the same time, and the two funerals took place the same day, which reminded their neighbors and friends of the calamity several years ago when the house was blown down by a tornado and Mr. Anderson's mother and sister were killed.

The State loses one of its most accomplished cattle raisers.

FAITH CURE IN NEW ENGLAND.

The courts of the country where people in the olden times were burnt for witchcraft, have taken hold of that wild theory called "Faith Cure."

A girl died, last week, and the coroner took the case in hand. The jury after deliberating less than fifteen minutes brought in this verdict: We find that the said Martha Olsen came to her death by typhoid fever while under the care and guaranty of Carl Olsen, and we further find that her death was due to his criminal negligence in not securing a physician for her in time, and for not carrying out physician's instructions when communicated to him.

And we respectfully call the attention of the grand jury to the vicious practices which are carried on by members of the sect, or religious organization, to which the deceased and the prisoner belonged.

The grand jury has found a true bill against Olsen, and he is in deep trouble.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR TO THE PEOPLE OF HARLAN COUNTY.

"Commonwealth of Kentucky, Executive Department.—Whereas, Official information has reached me that the laws of the State are set in defiance in your midst; that some of the civil officers, elected by yourselves and sworn to discharge their duty to so society, give covert assistance to the criminal class; that outrages and assassinations are perpetrated with impunity; that civil officers are resisted by force of arms in the discharge of their duty, and that the people of the county have permitted themselves to be so terrorized by the lawless acts of a few individuals as to have refused obedience to the civil authorities in their efforts to arrest persons charged with the commission of crimes:

"Now, therefore, I, S. B. Buckner, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, have deemed it my duty to send State troops to your county. It is proper that I should inform you of the object of their coming.

"It is not for the purpose of relieving you of your responsibilities of citizenship, or to discharge for you the duties imposed on you by laws of your own making. They come in strict subordination to the civil authorities, to support the dignity and authority of the Court, and to aid in enforcing the law, not only against its open violators, but also against their aiders and abettors, and against those citizens who give indirect assistance to crime by refusing to aid the civil authorities in repressing it.

"You are invested with the same rights as the people of other counties; your officials possess equal authority; you have an equal interest in the observance of law and owe the same obedience to your civil officers when summoned to enforce it.

"The presence of the military deprives you of none of your rights, and relieves you of none of your responsibilities. They are with you to give evidence that the power of the State is behind you, to give such support as may be necessary to vindicate the law.

"You must discharge your duty as good citizens to show that you deserve to be sustained. If you refuse to discharge your duties as good citizens, you have no right to expect others to discharge those duties for you.

"I call upon you, therefore, to respond promptly to the summons of the civil authorities; to obey them implicitly in their attempts to arrest and bring to speedy justice, or, if resisted by force, to shoot down, under the orders of the civil authorities, the assassins who threaten, in your midst, the peace and welfare of society.

"It is by such rigorous measures alone, under the authority of your own officials, that you can expect to maintain peace in your midst, and protect your material interests and civil rights against the armed aggressions of a few desperate men, whose lawless acts are a reproach to your civilization.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort the 8th day of September, 1889.

S. B. BUCKNER, Governor.

At the anniversary of missions Saturday night, the Financial Secretary stated that there had been raised this year for foreign missions $4,699.43, and for domestic missions $2,79.57.

Bishop Wilson delivered the address before an immense audience at the Court-house. He spoke of being a delegate to the World's Missionary Conference, held in London last year, where 1,500 were present from all over the world.

"The man who repudiates foreign missions repudiates the whole Gospel, and I challenge contradiction," said the Bishop with great earnestness.

"The man who keeps what Christ has given him, robs Christ and robs his fellowmen. When the church shall do her whole duty, then God will win the church for himself. The Kingdom of God to be established on earth will call that we have."

After the Bishop's powerful plea for missions, a contribution of $650 was raised for the work in Japan. All the churches in Paris were occupied on the Sabbath by the visiting ministers. The great crowd was in attendance at the Methodist church, to hear the Bishop, who preached for one hour and a quarter, with a degree of power that swept the audience like a wind from the forest.

CONFERENCE STATISTICS.

The following statistics may be of interest, showing the strength and increase of the Kentucky Conference: Local preachers, 119.

White members, 27,249. Adult baptisms, 1,264. Infant, 401.

Number of churches, 253. Value of churches, $627,800. Number of parsonages, 44.

Value of parsonages, $72,725. Value of other church property, $7,840.

Money expended on churches and parsonages, $18,472. Number of Sunday-school, 241.

Number of officers and teachers, 1,506. Scholars, 18,469.

Money paid for Sunday-school literature, $2,535.07.

Money contributed by Sunday-school for missions, $48,220.

Contributed for other purposes, $907.98.

These financial statements show that the Conference is vigorously pushing the various lines of its work. There are faithful men at work in the Methodist churches of Kentucky, and their reports exhibit a success in raising money and carrying on the machinery of the church that is encouraging.

The great London strike came to an end with a victory for the strikers, they securing three cents an hour advance.

Estill county shows many evidences of improvement, and people are becoming fully alive to the fact that their county contains a great deal of fertile and productive soil, and there is no reason why the county should not rank foremost of the counties in this section.—Irvine Eagle.

The mysterious disappearance of J. D. Jones, of Garrard, still remains as ever, though it is now known that he has not been murdered. Mr. Ben. Holtzclaw, Jones' brother-in-law, has received a letter from the missing man, dated at Wilmore, Kansas, though the contents of the letter have not been made known.—Danville Advocate.

A fire that broke out in a shaft of a coal mine at Birmingham, Ala., imprisoned a miner and 16 mules. The miner was rescued about ten days afterward and was found to be dead. Eighteen days after the mules, which were much further back in the mine, were reached, and all but one of the 16 were alive, although they were too weak to stand.

Col. Sam M. Burdette, late employee of Uncle Sam in the capacity of revenue agent and formerly connected with the Louisville newspapers, will re-enter journalism next week and will hold a position on one of Mr. Hallemann's papers. Mr. Burdette is a graceful writer, a very good fellow, and a well-known local in his old field of usefulness in newspaper men generally.—Louisville Post.

Mr. John Stagg, of this city is a hale old gentleman of ninety-two, with the sparkling eyes of mind and activity of body suited to youth. A remarkable circumstance about him is that he has cut two perfectly sound eye teeth which assist in the mastication of his food. This curious and unusual fact will afford an item of interest to our medical fraternity.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

The young ladies, accompanied by New York friends, will sail on the 21st, on the steamship Bourgoigne for Paris, France, where they will enter school and remain for a period of two years, devoting their vacations to traveling over the entire of the world.—Midway Clipper.

The Circuit Court at Georgetown, decided in the case of Adams against the Kentucky Grangers' Benefit Society, that it should pay him the amount of his policy, and 5 per cent. since his death. Adams died the 23rd of October in Versailles, but the check to pay the premium on his policy was not received at the office in Georgetown until the 24th, although it was in proof that it was placed in the postoffice on the 20th.

Noticing that Editor Richardson of the Glasgow Times is eating apples of a second crop produced by the same tree this season, reminds us that Mr. Kate Dunderer will soon be doing likewise, if the cold snap doesn't make them fall off. Her tree bore largely in June and now has a second crop of apples as large as at maturity. Another freak of nature in town is a locust tree on Mayor E. H. Burnside's place in full bloom.—Stanford Journal.

Yesterday J. H. Shropshire sold at the front door of the Court-house at auction to the highest bidder: Sixteen shares Farmer's Bank of Kentucky stock at $131.10 per share, eight shares Farmers' Bank of Kentucky stock at $132.70, twenty shares Northern Bank of Kentucky stock at $132.70. Also a cottage house on Chestnut street containing three rooms, and sold for $700.—Transcript.

The preliminary meeting of the Chickasaw Memorial Association was held at Chattanooga, Thursday, about 2,500 ex-Confederate soldiers and $1,000 ex-Confederate soldiers.

being present. Gen. W. S. Rosecrans was elected President. The object of the organization is to induce Congress to buy the old battlefield of Chickasaw and convert it into a National Park, dedicated to the memory of the soldiers of both armies who fought and fell there.

Mrs. Lizzie Ingram, wife of Napoleon Ingram, of Plummers Mill, this county, was assaulted and brutally beaten Monday night and terribly beaten. She was in a delicate condition at the time, and premature labor resulted from the effects of which she died this morning. There is an air of mystery about the case, and the woman could not be prevailed on to make a statement. The neighborhood is incensed, and the husband is strongly suspected. No arrest yet.—Flemingsburg Telegram.

The city of Frankfort took its name from the killing, in the fall of 1770, of Stephen Frank on the spot where the city now stands. A party of pioneers on their way from Harrodsburg to Man's Lick, in Jefferson county, for a supply of salt, camped there and threw up slight breastworks for protection. They were attacked by the Indians during the night, and Stephen Frank was killed, and two others, Bryan and Tomlin, were wounded. The spot after that was known as Frank's fort, hence Frankfort.

Night before last between the arrivals of the express trains at Livingston a transfer pouch of mail was stolen from the depot at that place. The pouch was found next morning about 200 yards south of Rockcastle River station, the straps having been cut with a hatchet that was found near the spot. The mail was secured and returned, some 15 or 20 letters having been opened. We understand that there was no registered matter in the pouch. It is probable that the party or parties will be arrested before this appears in print.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

He has been caught.

Gen. W. J. Landrum, of Lancaster, passed through the city Wednesday on his way to Frankfort to argue before the Court of Appeals a case that is interesting because of its novelty. It involves a claim of $15,000 against the Standard Oil Company, preferred by a gentleman of Garrard county, on account of the destruction of a spring by the pollution of waters. A warehouse of the Oil Company was located near the water supply and the leakage of the illuminating fluid flowing into the spring, the water becoming impregnated with oil and thus destroyed its usefulness. The mixing of the oil and water, unusual in itself, led to the suit for $15,000.—Danville Advocate.

At the new and elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Myers, on West Main street, on Saturday evening, September 21st, it was my privilege to witness what is termed a Tea Party of Richmond's little beauties, it being the 16th anniversary of their only daughter, Mary. On the same day, seven years ago, at high noon, in the town of Harrodsburg, the host and hostess stood before hymen's altar and took upon themselves the solemn vows of husband and wife.

At about three o'clock the little butterflies began to arrive, neatly and beautifully attired in tea gowns of various hues and colors, until two dozen or more were there—Ray Streng, Nellie Chennault, Geneva Moberly, Minnie Dykes, Katie Smith, Edna Shackelford, Laura Delie Luxon, Carlisle and Eleanor Chennault, Kittle and Florence Chennault, Amy Smith, Alice Ballard, Annie and Emma Duncan, Essa and Sadie Burnam, Margaretta Smith, Sallie McDowell, Dovie and Hallie Leitcher, Mary Shackelford, Mary Ellis, Thelma and Belle Taylor, Carlisle Walker and Birdie Turner. After a couple of hours of happy play in which all took part, they repaired to the dining room where their cheerful countenances met tables beautifully laden with cakes, candies, fruits, nuts, ice-cream, sherberts, etc., which all sat down to heartily enjoy. Their carriages and huggies began to arrive to hear the little ones home with many kisses and kindly remembrances, hoping that such pleasant and delightful evenings would often occur.

CONCERNING FARMERS.

Crops in the South are good.

Scott Hudson bought during the past month 500,000 pounds of hemp from various parties in this county at $5 delivered at Camp Dick Robinson.—Lancaster News.

Many of our farmers are not willing to take the prices offered for their cattle and some of them will feed them a while. J. A. Nash began this week and says the winter continues the operation until they are worth more money or have eaten up his corn.—Winchester Democrat.

R. Baker, of Watkins, N. Y., sold to L. A. Elliot, of Friendship, N. Y., the b-s Egthorn by Ebert, dam Sue by Thorndale, for $10,000. Mr. Baker then purchased of Joe Nevius, of Louisville, a full brother to Egthorn for $1,000. This sold last winter in Bradford's saddle for $25.

W. B. Kidd, agent for Lehman Bros., bought this week of Joe Bales, of Madison, 122 cattle weighing 150 pounds at $4.25; of Wilkerson, of Montgomery county, 95, weight and price not known; of J. V. Grishy, 35, weight 1487 lbs., at 4 cents, and of R. B. Bunden, 61, weighing 1487, at the same price.—Winchester Democrat.

The hitherto invincible Prince Wilkes has been beaten in South America. He started recently against Gladys, by Royal Fernough, and Georgetown, the Blue Bull pacer. The race was three mares, two heat in three. After Georgetown and Prince Wilkes had each taken a heat, Gladys came on and won the race.—Stock Farm.

One of our large handlers of cattle and horses late owners remarked to a representative of the Advocate, Wednesday that he had several hundred head of cattle on hand and that when he got rid of them he would stop the business for the present. He said western ranch business was what was effecting the blue-grass cattle market.—Danville Advocate.

Winchester Court.—J. A. Ramsey, auctioneer, reports 300 cattle on the market. Fifty head of 1000 lb feeders brought $3.00 per cwt. One small lot extra feeders 1250 lbs. weight, $3.25. Good yearlings, $3.00. Forty one head yearling mules brought $86.50. Quite a number of mules sold at fair prices. A large crowd in town.

Tom Curtis bought 30 mule colts, paying from $45 to $85 a head. Other parties bought 25 mule colts, paying from $75 to $90 a head. Ten broke mules sold from $75 to $150 a head. Plug horses sold from $25 to $75 a head.

The contract to furnish meat to the Asylum for one year from Sept. 9, was awarded last Saturday to W. J. Withers & Son at $4.90 per hundred. There were ten bids, ranging from 4 to 6 cents per pound, and the contract was given to the lowest bidder. This is 30 cents per hundred more than was paid under the canceled contract with Mr. G. B. Coombs. The written contract is for beef and mutton to be furnished in equal quantities of fore and hind quarters and at such times as suits the Asylum authorities.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

A pest which made its appearance in this county only a year or two ago has spread considerable the present year. The farmers are alarmed about it. The plant is a parasite which fastens upon the roots of growing crops. It produces an immense crop of fine almost impalpable seed. It is death to hemp and tobacco. We heard of one farmer who cut his hemp and burned it to destroy the pest. It has been said that seeding to grass and grazing cattle or sheep will exterminate it. Some farmers scout this, however, and instance a case where land was kept in clover and grass for two years, and when cultivated the third season was found as bad as ever. Enough of the seed remain in the soil to reproduce the pest. Some farmers think that repeated shallow plowings through the hot weather would be effectual. We would be very glad to obtain any light on this subject and invite communications from farmers who have investigated it.—Versailles Sun.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local application, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh), that we can not cure by taking Halls Catarrh Cure.
